 - 9.1.4– our agents and outsourced service providers or third-party contractors to enable them to undertake services for us and/or on our behalf (and we will ensure they have appropriate measures in place to protect your personal data);
 - 9.1.5– credit reference agencies – see ‘Credit checking’ below;
 - 9.1.6– if we are under a duty to disclose or share Personal Data in order to comply with any legal obligation, including (but not limited to) any request or order from law enforcement agencies and/or HMRC in connection with any investigation to help prevent unlawful activity;
 - 9.1.7– to any prospective buyer or seller (and their representatives) in the event that we sell or buy any business or assets.
- 9.2– We may disclose aggregated, anonymous information (i.e. information from which you cannot be personally identified), or insights based on such anonymous information, to selected third parties, including (without limitation) analytics and search engine providers to assist us in the improvement and optimisation of the Website. In such circumstances we do not disclose any information which can identify you personally.

10– Keeping your personal data secure

We, our business partners or outsourced service providers referred to above will use technical and organisational measures to safeguard your personal data. While we will use all reasonable efforts to safeguard your personal data, you acknowledge that the use of the internet is not entirely secure and for this reason we cannot guarantee the security or integrity of any personal data that are transferred from you or to you via the internet.

11– Credit Checking

To enable us, to make credit decisions about you for fraud prevention and money laundering purposes, we may search the files of credit reference and fraud prevention agencies (who will record the search). We may disclose information about how you conduct your account to such agencies and your information may be linked to records relating to together people living at the same address with whom you are financially linked. Other credit grantors may use this information to make credit decisions about you and the people with whom you are financially associated, as well as for fraud prevention, debtor tracing and money laundering purposes. If you provide false or inaccurate information and we suspect fraud, we will record this.

12– Third Party Websites

Our Website may, from time to time, contain links to and from the websites of our partner networks, advertisers, affiliates and others. If you follow a link to any of these websites, please note that these websites have their own privacy policies and that we do not accept any responsibility or liability for these policies. Please check these policies before you submit any personal data to these websites.

13– Information about other individuals

If you give us information on behalf of someone else, you can confirm that the other person has appointed you to act on his/her behalf and has agreed that you can:

- give consent on his/her behalf to the processing of his/her personal data;
- receive on his/her behalf any data protection notices;
- give consent to the transfer of his/her personal data abroad.

14– Transfers of personal data outside of the UK

From time to time we may need to transfer personal data to other countries (which may include countries outside the UK or the European Economic Area (“EEA”). This can include countries where we do business, which are linked to your engagement with us or where our third parties conduct activities. These countries may have less stringent privacy laws than we do, so any information they hold can become subject to their laws and disclosure requirements. When we, or our permitted third parties, transfer your personal data outside the UK or the EEA, we will take reasonable steps in accordance with the applicable Data Protection requirements to ensure the protection and security of your personal data to the standard required in the UK:

- use of approved contractual clauses;
- ensuring that we only transfer your personal data to persons or entities that are appropriately authorised and/or accredited to process personal data in compliance with applicable Data Protection Requirements;
- By submitting your personal data to us in accordance with this Policy you consent to these transfers for the purposes specified in this Policy.

15— Your rights

15.1— If you are an individual, this section sets out your legal rights in respect of any of your personal data that we are holding and/or processing. If you wish to exercise any of your legal rights you should put your request in writing to us (using our contact details below) giving us enough information to identify you and respond to your request.

You have the right

- to request access to information about personal data that we may hold and/or process about you, including: whether or not we are holding and/or processing your personal data; the extent of the personal data we are holding; and the purposes and extent of the processing.
- to have any inaccurate information we hold about you be rectified and/or updated. If any of the personal data that you have provided changes, or if you become aware of any inaccuracies in such personal data, please let us know in writing giving us enough information deal with the change or correction.
- in certain circumstances to request that we delete all personal data we hold about you (the ‘right of erasure’). Please note that this right of erasure is not available in all circumstances, for example where we need to retain the personal data for legal compliance purposes. If this is the case, we will let you know.
- in certain circumstances to request that we restrict the processing of your personal data, for example where the personal data is inaccurate or where you have objected to the processing (see below).
- to request a copy of the personal data we hold about you and to have it provided in a structured format suitable for you to be able to transfer it to a different data controller (the ‘right to data portability’). Please note that the right to data portability is only available in some circumstances, for example where the processing is carried out by automated means. If you request the right to data portability and it is not available to you we will let you know.
- in certain circumstances to object to the processing of your personal data. If so, we shall stop processing your personal data unless we can demonstrate sufficient and compelling legitimate grounds for continuing the processing which override your own interests. If, as a result of your circumstances, you do not have the right to object to such processing then we will let you know.
- in certain circumstances not to be subject to a decision based solely on automated processing, for example where a computer algorithm (rather than a person) makes decisions which affect your contractual rights. Please note that this right is not available in all circumstances. If you request this right and it is not available to you we will let you know.
- to object to direct marketing, for which see above.

16— Complaints

If you have any concerns about how we collect or process your Data then you have the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority, which for the UK is the UK Information Commissioner’s Office (“ICO”). Complaints can be submitted to the ICO through the ICO helpline by calling 0303 123 1113. Further information about reporting concerns to the ICO is available at <https://ico.org.uk/concerns>

17— ‘Cookies’ and related software

17.1— Our software may issue ‘cookies’ (small text files) to your device when you access and use the Website and you will be asked to consent to this at the time (e.g. when you first visit our website). Cookies do not affect your privacy and security since a cookie cannot read data off your Website or read cookie files created by other sites.

17.2— Our Website uses cookies and other tracking and monitoring software to: distinguish our users from one another; collect standard Internet log information; and to collect visitor behaviour information. The information is used to track user interactions with the Website and allows us to provide you with a good experience when you access the Website, helps us to improve our Website, and allows us to compile statistical reports on Website visitors and Website activity.

- 17.3– You can set your Website not to accept cookies if you wish (for example by changing your browser settings so cookies are not accepted), however please note that some of our Website features may not function if you remove cookies from your Website. For further general information about cookies please visit www.aboutcookies.org or www.allaboutcookies.org
